Play the melody of the Chorus while doing the Recitation

My Dream of the Big Parade

This recitation can either be done to rhythm or artists may take liberties having orchestra
pick up voice at cue.

Recitation

2nd CHORUS

Emphasize the first word of each line on the beat of melody.

Millions of soldiers,— millions of men
All going over,— I see them again;
Oceans of water, submarines too,
Millions of sailors helping them through.
Millions of doughboys landing in Brest,
Marching and marching,— never a rest;
Millions of bullets thundering past,
Millions of buddies wounded and gassed.
Valleys of ruins, mountains of mud,
Beautiful rivers, and rivers of blood;
Aeroplanes flying,— bombs coming down,
Millions of cooties crawling around.
Pieces of shrapnel,— pieces of shell,
Many a cross where somebody fell.
Fighting and fighting,— a horrible war,
And God knows what you're fighting it for.

3rd CHORUS

Then came November,— that Armistice Day
Out of a trench into a cafe,
Paddy and Abie and Jimmy and Jack
Over their bottles of wine and cognac
Telling their love tales to Jean and Georgette,
Little French girls they had to forget.
And then came the journey over the foam,
But all that went over, didn't come home.

Sing

I saw Gold Star Mothers, sisters and brothers,
What a sacrifice they made;
I saw one legged pals coming home to their gals,
In my dream of the Big Parade.
